

The best way of proclaiming the message of Christianity is in face-to-face encounters. But in a nation with over 300 million people, it's hard to get a message across without using mass media. How have Christians, particularly Lutherans, done with that proclamation opportunity? How have the media shaped the reputation and image of faith communities? How could a better understanding of how media works increase our effectiveness in evangelism? These are some of the questions we will probe in our adult education study: Christianity and the Media.

Please join us on Sundays, December 3, 10 and 17, at 9:30 a.m. in the Promise Room.
